

Jay Eldridge is the Applied Air Systems Development Manager for Daikin Applied. He has 25 years experience in the application and design of applied HVAC systems. His current responsibilities include optimizing and working with applied air systems, but he has an extensive background in chiller and heat pump systems.

Jay is an ASHRAE member and served as the chair of the District Energy (TC 6.2) technical committee and is a member of the Large Building Air-Conditioning Systems (TC 9.01) committee. He is also a corresponding member of the Fans technical committee (TC 5.1) Jay has a degree in Mechanical Engineering from Iowa State University.

